About Library

Reflections is a student-run library that offers a variety of printed and digital material on Islam and the Muslim world. Our collection contains both canonical Islamic texts and secular academic material, and ranges from general interest volumes to advanced texts of Islamic scholarship. Our primary collection is English, but we also carry a substantial selection of French and Arabic material.

Reflections was founded on Concordia University campus in 2002, through a CCSL project grant. Our collection grew over the years, and so did our membership. Today, Reflections Islamic Library is managed by the MSA, and offers its users a balance of professional circulation practices and a warm, informal atmosphere..
